Album Release: A Work in Progress (2016)

Bands: Michele McTierney and the Whiskeys (4 piece full band), Michele McTierney Duo/Trio (acoustic)

BIO/SUMMARY

Michele blends powerful, emotionally charged vocals and edgy, infectious pop rock music with a wonderful talent for lyrical imagery, to create a true work of art. Michele's personal story is revealed in each song; her inspiring journey of losing over 230 lbs. in two years, following her dream to become a singer-songwriter, recording her first album, as well as her struggle with depression and surviving trauma and heartache.

With topics ranging from love and sex to domestic violence and her depression, her original songs blur a defined genre, blending the organic sound of real musicians with digital sequencing and programming to create a unique, multi-layered sound with orchestral leanings that spans pop, rock, alternative, reggae, metal, Latin and R&B. "A Work in Progress" is a spectacular musical tour de force, exposing the vulnerabilities of the heart and the strength of the human spirit with honesty, humor and passion.

“Energy, passion, talent is what Michele and this record is all about. Her lyrics and music are a perfect mix for great pop songs with a bit of an attitude! Michele is a joy to work with and deserves all her success.”

– Doug Wilson, Musician

– Gregg Picard, Musician, Songwriter

MIDI instruments, blending sound effects, loops, electronic and live recordings with powerful, emotionally-charged vocals and edgy, lyrical imagery. Award and Commendation List here.

Michele’s impressive, five-octave vocal range (F2-G7 which spans baritone up past soprano into “whistle” ranges) balances extreme passion and strength with vulnerability, honed under vocal coaches Annie Eidolon, Carol Westcott and currently Rebekah Eden. Michele has extensive acting, vocal and music training, and has performed in plays, performance art, improv and dance groups, chorales, musical theatre, orchestras, marching bands, classical, contemporary/pop/rock and jazz ensembles.

Michele plays numerous instruments in addition to vocals (flute, piccolo, saxophone, harmonica, percussion, keyboard/synths and is currently studying guitar and ukulele). Michele participated in several music, choral and theatre activities throughout her childhood and attended Severna Park High School, playing flute and piccolo in the award-winning SPHS Marching Band, under Band Director, R. Thomas Powell. She played saxophone in jazz ensembles and participated in several specialty bands, including All County Band and Solo Ensemble Festivals. She also volunteered as a music tutor, taught children’s music classes at church and organized several church concerts for the sick and elderly.

A University of Notre Dame grad, Michele holds two BAs (English/Theatre, French). She spent her sophomore year in France, delving deeply into songwriting and singing as a cathartic method of expression. While traveling around Europe, she was inspired and influenced by the wide variety of genres she encountered. She was accepted and performed with a Baroque Ensemble at a French music conservatory as well as L’Université Catholique de L’Ouest’s International Chorale, singing in French and other languages. Michele spent her junior and senior years participating in rock bands and was in several acting groups and theatre productions. A full creative resume is available upon request.

“I have never seen anyone as passionate and dedicated to their music as much as Michele. She puts everything she has into making her music the best it can be. She can belt out a hard driving song with clarity and strength that will blow you away or can have you feeling every note on a slow soulful tune. Michele strength is not just in her vocals, but it’s also her songwriting ability. Her witty and crafty lyrics is reminiscent of legendary 80’s British wit masters Nick Drake, PJ Harvey, Billy Bragg and Kate Bush, with the fresh appeal of our world today. You won’t be disappointed in this CD.”

– Matthew Bathurst,
Musician, Songwriter

VOCAL COACH

Michele is both a private voice coach and a vocal instructor at the School of Rock in Baltimore and Annapolis. Michele’s philosophy is simple – put on a good show! “I first met Michele on an internet radio broadcast on Skype.

After being initially struck by her beauty I was more impressed with her smarts, charm and sense of humor. Mind you this is before I heard a note of her music. The two songs I heard her sing that day with her amazing voice made me laugh, get a little sweaty and lastly made my cry. The raw frankness of her lyrics are amazing and unforgettable.

She gained a lifelong fan that day.”
